Confidence

How are you doing so far in keeping up with the content? Getting a little behind? I've signed up for eCourses and it's very easy to fall behind. So, I totally understand. You have good intentions, but you're also pretty busy.

Here's what I'd like to suggest. Get a 2" binder from a stationary store, like Walmart or Staples, and a pack of sheet protectors or a 3-hole punch. As the reports arrive in your email box, go ahead and print them immediately, if possible, and place them in the binder. This way, when you have a few minutes you can grab your binder and focus on them in chronological order, or read a topic that has particular appeal to you. A few of my friends who specialize in certain topics will also be contributing their knowledge as part of the 30-day eCourse, so look out for those as well.

Today I'm keeping it short but powerful by sending you some real confidence boosters in the form of quotations. I love quotations because they say so much in a few words. Please share with me which ones you like the best and will keep handy to give you a POWER BURST when you need it.

Warmly,

Yvonne A Jones
